Academic Dress

Academic costume originated in Europe about six hundred years ago. It consists of the gown, hood, and cap. Each level of academic achievement still retains a distinctive gown and hood. Bachelor's gowns are worn today by all recipients of undergraduate degrees. Master's degree candidates have distinctive master's gowns. Many faculty members wear doctoral gowns with colorful hoods representing their alma maters and their disciplines.

The hood worn for the bachelor's degree (now seldom seen) is three feet long, for the master's degree three and one-half feet, and for the doctoral degree four feet. Hoods are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. University of Southern Maine hoods are lined in crimson.

The edging of the hoods varies in width according to the degree. Its color is distinctive of the subject to which the degree pertains. Some of these colors and associated subjects are:

Arts, Letters, Humanities—White
Commerce, Accountancy, Business—Drab
Education—Light Blue
Engineering—Orange
Law—Purple
Nursing—Apricot
Philosophy—Dark Blue
Science—Golden Yellow

The black mortarboard caps are of the same material as the gown. The tassel may be black or, as our custom, the color appropriate to the subject, except that the doctoral cap may have a gold tassel.

Most American colleges and universities use black gowns and black caps which conform to the above description. Many European institutions have gowns, hoods, and caps of original and frequently colorful design.

Emeriti Faculty

The University of Southern Maine takes great pleasure in honoring two colleagues who have retired and on whom Chancellor Robert L. Woodbury has conferred emeritus status. Emeritus status recognizes significant contributions to the University and community and encourages continued service from these valued colleagues.

Two retired faculty members are being granted honorary emeriti status at Commencement exercises in recognition of their academic records and service to the University of Southern Maine community.

Robert W. Findlay, professor of accounting, taught for nearly 27 years at USM. "Known for his knowledge, teaching ability and rigorous course demands," wrote one colleague, "Professor Findlay led the development of a solid curriculum for the accounting major." Findlay also served the School of Business, Economics and Management as department chair, acting dean, and more recently, associate dean. As chair of the Department of Accounting, he also was instrumental in development of the School's first cooperative education program.

Professor Findlay, who taught at Bentley College before joining USM, remains active in efforts by state and national professional organizations to increase continuing education requirements for accounting professionals. He is a board member and former president of the Maine Society of CPAs. In addition, Professor Findlay has taken leadership roles in several professional organizations at the regional and national levels, among them the New England Graduate Accounting Study Conference and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Dorothy D. Moore, associate professor of counselor education and former dean of the USM College of Education and Human Development, served USM for 27 years. "Her leadership," wrote a colleague, "has been instrumental in distinguishing both the Counselor Education program and the College...as national programs of excellence."

As dean from 1983 to 1991, Professor Moore assumed a lead role in developing USM's post-baccalaureate teacher education program, a program often cited nationally for its innovative approaches to the preparation of classroom teachers. She also is noted for her contributions to the Southern Maine Partnership, a collaborative program established by USM and funded by UNUM which allows educators in more than 25 school districts to test and implement new methods of instruction. Professor Moore, a former occupant of USM's Russell Chair in Philosophy and Education, was named the 1992 recipient of the Maine School Superintendent's Distinguished Service Award.

Active in numerous educational associations, Professor Moore has served on the Board of Directors of The Children's Museum of Maine, and as chair of the Governor Baxter School for the Deaf's Policy Review Team. She currently is a Mediator/Guardian ad Litem for the Maine Court Mediation Service.

Honorary Degree Recipients

Edward S. Godfrey

Doctor of Humane Letters

For over 30 years, Dean Ed Godfrey has been an esteemed colleague, teacher, dean, judge, advisor, and confidante. Equally important, he is beloved and honored by leaders and citizens throughout Maine and a valued friend to a generation of law students, many of whom are now practicing lawyers, judges, elected officials, and business leaders.

Edward S. Godfrey is the founding dean of the University of Maine School of Law. In the School's first decade, Dean Godfrey hired outstanding faculty and staff, built a first class law library, secured national accreditation, opened the state and regional job markets to its graduates, and established the School's record of service to the state of Maine. With these accomplishments, he certainly is one of the important architects of public higher education in Maine and of the University of Southern Maine in particular. The immense respect in which Dean Godfrey is held by the legal and governmental communities in Maine was demonstrated by his appointment as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Maine, where he served from 1976 to 1983. His accomplishments on the Court are the subject of a symposium issue of the Spring 1995 Maine Law Review.

Upon his retirement from the Court, Dean Godfrey returned to the academy. A graduate of Harvard College and Columbia Law School, he had previously held faculty appointments at Albany Law School Union University and as the Carl Hatch Professor of Law and Public Administration at the University of New Mexico. Since 1984, Ed Godfrey has graced the University of Southern Maine and the Law School with his presence as dean emeritus, maintaining an active teaching schedule, pursuing scholarly and community projects including service as chair of the Maine Labor Relations Board, and, most important, serving as an invaluable member of the faculty.

Gerald E. Talbot

Doctor of Humane Letters

For more than 30 years, Gerald E. Talbot has been a persistent advocate of civil and human rights and an outspoken opponent of racism, discrimination, and hate. Working with a broad spectrum of community leaders, he was instrumental in reviving the NAACP in Portland during the 1960s and served as the new group's first president in 1964. Gerry Talbot reminded us all that discrimination and racism were problems everywhere, and that they needed to be recognized and addressed. He has been Maine's conscience in the fight for civil rights and dignity for all Maine citizens.

Gerry Talbot was elected to the Maine House of Representatives in 1972 where he served three terms. He was the first African American to serve as legislator in the state of Maine; he has also served on the Maine State Board of Education (1979-84), the Governor's Task Force on Human Rights (1968), the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, Maine (1972-76, 1992-present), and the Portland Community Task Force on Bias Crime. He is currently a member of the Board of Visitors of the Muskie Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Southern Maine and the Academic Affairs Committee on Minority Retention of the Faculty, Staff, and Students at the University of Maine.

Gerry Talbot has built a unique collection of books, papers, artifacts, and documents pertaining to the African American experience and to his own family history, whose roots in Maine go back to the 1700s. On February 28, 1995, Gerry Talbot donated this collection to the University of Southern Maine, thereby initiating the new African American Archives of Maine. Thanks to his generosity, the story of the African Americans who settled in Maine will be preserved and celebrated as part of the fabric of our shared American heritage.

As a critic, Gerry Talbot has shown us the evils of discrimination and hate wherever he found them; as an activist, Gerry Talbot has worked tirelessly to make our society more just and humane; as an educator, he has brought the experience of African Americans directly to children and adults across the state. Moved by his conviction to make our society better, Gerry Talbot is an example for us all of the enduring power of each citizen. The fabric that is America is immeasurably stronger and more beautiful because of Gerry Talbot.

Distinguished Professional Staff Award

Kathleen Bouchard is the 1995 recipient of the Distinguished Professional Staff Award. Kathleen has a broad-based understanding of USM's many divisions gained from her more than 25 years of service to the University. Those who know her describe her as creative, attentive to detail and committed to fairness. "Kathleen is not the kind of administrator who focuses on doing only what her job requires; she regularly goes far beyond specific tasks to facilitate the work as a whole," one nominator wrote.

A graduate of Western Michigan University and Indiana University, Kathleen first came to USM in 1969. She held a variety of positions within USM's Division of Student Affairs and in 1981 became the director of USM's Equal Employment Opportunity/Affirmative Action Office, where she wrote the University's first formal affirmative action plan. After five years as EEO director, Kathleen became the director of Off-Campus Programs and Instructional Delivery. A major project she completed while director of Off-Campus Programs was the relocation of the Saco Center to its present location. Kathleen was named the University's first ombudsperson in 1993. Using her comprehensive understanding of the University's policies and procedures, Kathleen works to resolve a wide range of issues brought to her by members of the campus community.

Kathleen has been actively involved on campus and in the community. She co-chaired the Library Opening Event Committee, and chaired the Recognition Day Committee and the Weekend College Task Force. She also has been active in the Falmouth School System since her children were in elementary school. Says one nominator: "Kathleen is the kind of parent and community member that school superintendents dream about. She has dedicated her free time and energy to make things better for Falmouth's students."

Distinguished Classified Staff Award

Robin Day, an administrative associate in the Human Resources Division, is the 1995 recipient of the Distinguished Classified Staff Award. Her nominators say Robin is someone they rely on for information on University policies and procedures, and who is equally helpful to students. "Her desire to provide efficient quality service to the USM community motivates her to achieve high levels of organization and to continually improve," one nominator stated.

In 1980, Robin began working at USM as a records technician in the business office. She became the office manager in the College of Arts and Sciences in 1981, and later was promoted to an administrative associate in the College. From 1987 to 1993, Robin worked as an administrative assistant in the CAS's history department. She began her current position in the benefits office of the Human Resources Division in 1993.

Robin, who received a Medical Unit Secretary certificate from the Southern Maine Technical Institute, also has served on a variety of committees during her 15 years of service to USM. She has served on the Classified Staff Senate and the President's Budget Planning/Advisory Committee. She also is actively involved in the school and extracurricular activities of her three sons, serving as a chairwoman and den leader for scouting organizations and as a Sunday School teacher.

Graduation with Distinction

Undergraduate degree candidates are cited for graduation honors on their diploma and transcript. In addition, graduates in attendance today wear honor cords reflecting their academic distinction to date—cum laude (white), magna cum laude (blue) and summa cum laude (gold). Grades from the current semester are not included in the display of honors at today's ceremony; final designation may, therefore, change.
